

Society Doings in and Around The National Capital

By SALLY VAWTER HARRIS.

The President and Mrs. Wilson will have frequent visits during the summer vacation from members of the Cabinet who have chosen New England for their summer homes. The Postmaster General and Mrs. Burleson, who returned to Washington yesterday, have taken a house at Watch Hill, and the Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston will have a house at Woods Hole, Mass., during the season. It is probable that the Secretary of the Treasury and his wife will settle at some point less than a day's journey from Cornish, and one or two other Cabinet members will go to New England, if only for a short time.

President Wilson, accompanied by Mr. Tamm and Mr. Sloan, occupied a box at B. F. Keith's Theater last night to witness the Washington premiere of Miss Darric and company in the new J. M. Darric fantasy, "Pantaloen."

The Vice President and Mrs. Marshall will return to the Capital this morning after spending several days in Virginia near Roanoke as the guests of Senator and Mrs. Kern, of Indiana, who have a large farm in Virginia. Senator Hoke Smith and Miss Callie Hoke Smith, and Senator and Mrs. Swanson, all of whom went to Virginia Friday with the Vice President and Mrs. Marshall, also will return to Washington today.

The Secretary of War and Mrs. Garrison will have as a guest this week Mrs. Sherman Hoar, of Concord, N. H. Mrs. Hoar is the cousin of Mrs. Garrison and the wife of the late Representative Sherman Hoar, nephew of Senator Hoar, who was at one time District Attorney for Boston. While Mrs. Hoar is in mourning and her visit will be a quiet one, she has hosts of friends in the Capital who will meet her.

The Secretary of Agriculture and Mrs. Houston returned yesterday afternoon from a motor trip for pleasure, upon which they started on Sunday.

Miss Anna Hart Wilson has as a guest Miss Fern Rasmussen, of San Marcos, Tex., who arrived yesterday afternoon to remain for a week.

The men who will attend Mr. Chauncey Hackett at his marriage to Miss Katherine Jennings on May 23 will be Mr. Mittum de Suzzara-Verdi, of New York, best man, and the ushers will be Mr. Coleman Jennings, brother of the bride; Mr. William H. Y. Hackett, brother of the bridegroom; Mr. Franklin H. Ellis, of Washington, and Lord Eustace Percy, of the British Embassy staff. Miss Jennings has not yet announced her attendants.

Miss Nancy O'Donohue, of Philadelphia, will arrive in Washington today for a week's visit to Senator and Mrs. Ollie James.

Horse Show Judges Dined

Col. Robert M. Thompson entertained the judges and some of the exhibitors of the horse show at dinner last night. To-night Col. and Mrs. Thompson will entertain guests at dinner to meet Mrs. George B. Witt, of New York, who is a guest of Mrs. Plumer at the Grafton during the week.

Mrs. Thomas Ewing will return to Washington today from a visit in New York.

Mr. A. J. de Ipanema, second Brazilian consul, will arrive in Washington today in company with his wife and daughter, to spend a few days at the Shoreham last night in compliment to Commander and Mrs. Croley.

Lieut. and Mrs. C. Raymond P. Rodgers have closed their house, Lieut. Rodgers having been ordered to sea. Mrs. Rodgers, with her infant daughter, has gone to Hamilton, Mass., to visit her parents. Mr. and Mrs. George von L. Meyer.

Mrs. Stephen B. Elkins will entertain guests at dinner tonight.

Dr. and Mrs. David Jayne Hill, who left Washington yesterday, will sail from New York today to spend the summer in Europe.

Lieut. and Mrs. Thurston Hughes are the guests for a few days of Mrs. Hughes' parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Diederich Leach.

The program to be presented by Mrs. Christian Hennick on Friday afternoon and evening, May 8, at 308 Rhode Island avenue, for the benefit of Neighborhood House, and entitled "The Mystery of the East," is in a wonderful state of perfection.

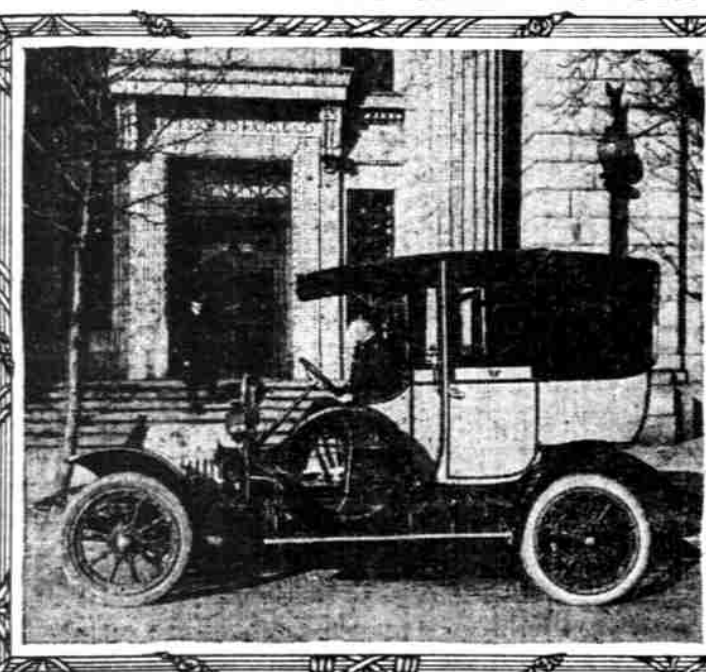

The scenes from India include: I. The sacred book of Tazim; Dismal, of Kist-na, reads from the secrets of life.

II. The Jealous Serpent.

III. Incense Dance—Zobla and her maidens.

IV. Misere, a woman of Kist-na, brings her soul into earth to perfume the temple of worship and ascend the throne of virtue.

PLANS ACCEPTED FOR WASHINGTON MEMORIAL

Tracy & Sawtrent, New York Architects, Declared Winner in $1,500 Competition.

AWAIT COMMISSION'S DECISION

Tracy & Sawtrent, architects, of 244 Fifth avenue, New York, yesterday were declared winners in the competition for the design of the Washington Memorial Building on the Mall. Thirteen architects competed. The winner will receive the $1,500 prize and all other contestants $500 each. The jury of architects consisted of Philip Sawyer, Charles A. Platt, and Walter Cook.

The other architects were Horatio Marshall, of this city; Warren & Wetmore, with Richard A. Walker associated; McKim, Mead & White, New York; John R. Pope, New York; Electro, D. Litchfield, New York; Allen & Collins, Boston, Mass.; Peabody & Stearns, Boston; John Glen Howard, San Francisco; James & Young, St. Louis; Parker, Thomas & Rice, Boston and Baltimore; Paul Crest, Philadelphia, and Howard Van Doren Shaw, Chicago, Ill.

All the plans submitted will be exhibited in the Smithsonian Institution. Tracy & Sawtrent probably will be appointed to supervise the erection of the memorial. There is no doubt that this firm's plans will receive the necessary approval of the national commission of five arts.

The successful plans depict a colonial building with pillared front and square ground plan. There will be an auditorium with a seating capacity of 6,000. This auditorium is to be in the form of an ellipse, with a large stage at one end and a deep balcony encircling the hall.

The site tentatively selected for the building is that part of the Mall known as the "arm," facing B street northwest, between Sixth and Seventh. Building operations cannot be begun until the memorial association shall have raised $200,000, together with a permanent endowment fund of the same amount, as stipulated in the act of Congress of March 4, 1903, authorizing the appointment of the George Washington Memorial Association, the erection of the memorial and appropriating part of the money for building. Mrs. Henry F. Dimmock, president of the memorial association, expressed confidence last night that the necessary money will have been pledged by March 4 next, when the time for Congress will expire.

The memorial and the endowment fund will be administered by the Smithsonian Institution.

GET THIS BOOK AND SAVE DOCTOR'S BILLS

A book that will help every woman to be healthier, happier, better in every way has just been published, and is now being presented to readers of this newspaper in a popular plan explained in another column.

This wonderfully useful book is "My Secrets of Beauty," by Mme. Lina Cavalieri, known the world over as the most famous living beauty. It contains 32 pages of practical advice about the care of the hair, skin, eyes, teeth, etc., together with more than 1,000 recipes for face, hair, and body treatments, powders, and other necessary aids to beauty.

The advice and recipes represent all the latest and best of the most famous chemists, and beauty specialists of both America and Europe. We can't begin to tell how many women have benefited by any one of them may mean many times the cost of the whole volume to you in doctor's bills saved.

Remember, "My Secrets of Beauty," is the only book containing the great Cavalieri's personal advice on the subject of health and beauty. It can be secured for five cents, by mail, from the popular plan explained in another column.

Cavalieri's Beauty Books are on sale at the following places: People's Drug Store, Seventh and E streets northwest; Temple Drug Store, Ninth and F streets northwest; O'Donnell's Drug Store, 1217 F street northwest; and J. E. Ervin, Fourteenth and Harvard streets.

SUFFRAGISTS ADMIRE CURIO COLLECTION

Talks on "Votes for Women" Part of Entertainment Given by Mrs. N. Lovica White.

A collection of rare articles picked up in traveling through Europe and Asia, was shown yesterday at an afternoon gathering in the interests of suffrage in the apartment of Mrs. N. Lovica White, at the Cairo. Incidental suffrage talks were given by Mrs. Champ Clark and Miss Eliza Lord.

Mrs. White's collection includes Chinese lanterns, embroidered Manchou coats, and other curiosities, including a Chinese lady's heavy veil for a Turkish beauty and other things too numerous to mention.

Among those present were Mrs. Frederick DuBois, Mrs. Spanhoff, Mrs. Florence Tuttle, Mrs. Frederick Denning, Mrs. Elie Loran, Miss Lucy Patton, Mrs. Edward Clark, Miss Lillian Foster, Mrs. William P. Berland, Mrs. Charles Morton, Mrs. Charles W. Bell and Mrs. Franklin Swift.

PRINCE'S ART EXHIBIT AT CORCORAN GALLERY

Space Is Found in the Hemicycle for Paul Troubetzkoy's Famous Bronzes and Paintings.

WILL CONTINUE UNTIL MAY 17

The collection of bronzes and paintings by Prince Paul Troubetzkoy, which was excluded from the Corcoran Art Gallery several weeks ago because of lack of space, was placed on exhibition yesterday. Gallery officials explained that, having only one room for special exhibits and that particular room being engaged when the prince presented his collection, they were unable to allow him space. But when the Capital America Club, which had engaged the Hemicycle failed to obtain the exhibits necessary, the room was left vacant. The gallery immediately notified Prince Troubetzkoy, who had taken his collection to the Mow's gallery in H street, that it would be glad to receive his work.

The bronzes include the famous bust of Tolstoy, which is noted for its strength and originality of execution, and the equestrian statue of Alexander III, czar of Russia. Several of the beautiful statues of women, social prominence, some dated 1914, are to be seen, as well as the great head and shoulders portrait in bronze of Thomas F. Ryan, multi-millionaire of New York, Berlin, and Richmond. The exquisite little piece, La Danse, was much admired yesterday for the delicate skill displayed in the treatment of the subject.

The prince has no sympathy with the new and extravagant fads, the Cubists, Futurists, followers of Matisse and Picasso, who seek by startling methods to mystify the public. To remain sane and yet be original, to be one's own self, yet follow blindly no stupid traditions and in the end to achieve success in giving out the impressions of life and nature has been the great accomplishment of the prince's career in art.

Prince Troubetzkoy, who was born of a Russian father and an American mother, and who has had a wide and cosmopolitan experience, has statues in all parts of the world. Pieces of his work are in Paris, Rome, Berlin, Venice, Milan, and Buenos Aires. In America, Toledo, Buffalo, San Francisco and Chicago have his statues.

The exhibition will be continued until Sunday evening, May 17.

SUFFRAGIST TANGLES IN SATURDAY'S PARADE

Congressional Union Adopts "Freeze-Out" Methods to Put Lid on Rival Committee's Songs.

BUSY COUNTING PETITIONS

Now for the count.

The nation-wide demonstration by suffragists in all cities and towns, which petitions will come to Washington in time for the big demonstration here next Saturday, is to be presented to Congress, and the Congress will decide whether it will pass the "Federal amendment," or that backed by the national association, through its "Congressional committee," which is known as the "Bristow-Mendell resolution." It is known, however, that some associations will urge the passage of both.

The Congressional committee naturally may experience a little embarrassment in the parade that is to feature the big demonstration next Saturday. The Congressional Union got up the other line to boost the Bristow-Mendell resolution. No banners advertising the rival measure were allowed, it was announced yesterday at Congressional Union headquarters.

The Congressional committee and other supporters of the national association have announced their readiness to march in any division that may be designated by the union, and how they will take the union in regard to these are, no main to be seen. Each side has a war song of its own. Only that of the Congressional Union will be in order that day. But will they show up the other line in line to be able to endure this without shouting their own sweet song? Will they join them in the Congressional Union's anthem? These are the questions that burn just at present.

But this is not the only complication that threatens. The anti's have decided to take a hand in next Saturday's game. They will give expression to their opposition to the whole affair, not in words, but in what they term a more dignified means. Look for the red rose and wherever you see one put it down that the wearer is an "anti."

TROUSERS AND WRIST WATCH.

Dr. Mary Walker appeared yesterday wearing a gold wrist watch in addition to her usual masculine attire. The watch was presented to her by the Woman's Franchise Club of Chicago in honor of the first organization of a woman's club in America. This first club was organized by Dr. Walker during the civil war, and was located next door to the house in which Lincoln died.

HORSES DIVIDE DAY'S HONORS

Leroy, was second, and Mrs. W. Sinclair Bowen's gelding, Billy, was third.

Carmen Leads Green Hunters.

Col. Henry T. Allen's Mary Anna won the event for heavy ponies, the second position going to George O. Totten, Jr.'s Gatling. Mr. Totten's Seven Up took third place.

Mitchell Harrison's chestnut mare, Carmen, led in the class for green hunters, with Glendalough, of the Glen Riddle Farm, second. Ballyheather, another Glen Riddle entry, was third.

Mrs. William Hitt, on David Grey, and Miss Kitty Smith on Elk King, captured the event for ladies' hunting pairs for the Homewood Stable. Mrs. Allan Potts' Happy Creek and Pretty Maid were second, and Miss Smith and Mrs. Thompson piloted the two Glen Riddle entries, Willow King and Sir Winifred, to third position.

Class 51, for army teams, was the last of the afternoon, being won by Lieut. A. H. Carter and Lieut. Downer, on Cuneo, Din, and Essex, respectively. It was during this event that Lieut. Downer had his fall.

Boxholders Entertain.

Hundreds of distinguished men and women filled the boxes and seats, visitors passing from one box to another in rapid succession until it was difficult to tell whom the owners entertained. The German Ambassador, Count von Bernstorff, visited from place to place all during the afternoon. The Spanish Ambassador was with Mme. de Biano, who wore a modish costume of dark blue velvet and a black hat with roses, and they also visited many boxes.

Neither the Russian Ambassador or Mme. Bakmeteff, who were looked for in the box of Mrs. Edward Beale McLean, were present, but Mr. McLean, who wore a stunning white cloth suit and a yellow straw hat trimmed with roses, had with her the Russian Minister and Mme. Haventz, the Spanish Ambassador and Mme. de Biano, and John Barrett, director of the Pan American Union. Col. Robert M. Thompson, president of the horse show, and Mrs. Thompson completely turned one of their boxes over to their two grandsons, Robert and John Pott, of New York, and had in the box with them their daughter, Mrs. Walworth, and Mrs. Pincey, wife of Justice Pincey, of the Supreme Court.

Boxes Are Thronged.

Others occupying boxes and having guests were Mrs. Richard H. Townsend, Mrs. Peter Götter, who wore dark blue serge with white silk cuffs and collar and a black hat with roses; Mrs. William Hitt formerly Katherine Elkins, who, having her horses in the ring, wore her riding habit, Mrs. Reynolds Hitt and her children, Mrs. Stephen H. Elkins, Representative, and Mrs. Henry D. Flood, Mrs. J. Borden Harrison, Miss Ruth Hall, the intimate of Miss Eleanor Wilson, and her brother, Mr. Hall, Mrs. and Mrs. George Howard, Miss Margaret Perin, Miss Gladys Hinkley, Mrs. and Mrs. Gist Blair, Frank Ellis, Baron de Naxos, of the Dutch Legation, Baroness Marie von Gatten, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Lee, Miss Margaret L. Britton and her fiancé, Mr. Carroll M. Robertson, of New York, Baron von Lander, Mrs. Gladys Ingalls, Mr. and Mrs. Lutz Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Garrison McClinton, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Store, Viscount and Viscountess de Saurat, and a score of Spanish Secretaries and Countess de San Esteban de Canonica.
